

Changing Creatures

Cassandra thought the guys she dated were your everyday jocks. Little did she know some of them grew fur and ran on all fours. Others had fangs, drank blood and could fly. Not only that but she wasn't who she thought she was. She had been lied to her whole life about who she was. How would you feel if the things you were taught that went bump in the night only in books and movies, were real? That the things nightmares are made of were hunting for you, for one reason or another. Some want to use you, others want to force you to be theirs. Some want you dead! Cassandra will have to figure out who to believe and who to trust. How to survive on her own. Will she decide to run or stay and fight?
