

Called to be a Prophetic People: Witness and Reflection

This is the time when a prophetic people must take the leap of faith. In every age, there have been a multitude of distractions and crises of faith that would have kept the people of God from moving out in faith. The counsel of modern revelation is to discern and pursue what matters most now rather than being diverted and consumed by lesser things. Whether we are able to go forward is not about what we cannot do because of the circumstances that surround us, but what God will do when we are willing to step out in faith. This is what God does best make a way out of no way. (p. 249-250)
