

A Letter Introductory: From Messrs. Olmsted, Harris, Trowbridge and Richardson (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from A Letter Introductory: From Messrs. Olmsted, Harris, Trowbridge and Richardson To the Staten Island Improvement Commission:Gentlemen. - Before completing the work which you have given us to do, we wish to obtain the results of an analysis of waters from several sources on the Island, and certain other promised information, and our report will thus be delayed until your next regular meeting.We have thought it might be well for us, however, to define in advance, our views of the general line of policy to be adopted in a comprehensive scheme of improvements for Staten Island, thus explaining, to a certain extent, the grounds upon which our final propositions must be recommended to your approval, and this will be the object of our present communication.We wish to so far forecast the future market of this metropolis for real estate, that we can be satisfied what of its demands Staten Island in particular may be prepared to supply with the greatest certainty of large, general, ultimate profit.All possible demands of the future may, in the first place, be broadly divided under the heads of Commercial and Domestic; domestic being understood in this case to refer not only to dwellings but to whatever would administer directly to household economy, convenience and comfort, including stores, shops and markets, for local supply.The eastern margin of the Island, from a little north of Tompkins landing nearly to the Yacht Club House, has advantages of a peculiar character for certain commercial purposes, deep water and good holding ground being found close off shore, and large shipping being less liable to be troubled by ice than at any other point in the harbor at which it can lie with equal safety and convenience in other respects. An extensive use of these advantages would lead to the building of a special class of warehouses, factories and shops along the shore. As, within narrow limits, this demand is liable to become an imperative one, the erection of many permanent and costly domestic buildings on this shore is not to be expected. The sooner, therefore, its commercial advantages are developed the better. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
