

A STORM IN A TIN CUP: The Zander Trilogy 3

How our hero Zanders world has changed. Now that he no longer owns a boat, he has taken up the game of golf. A STORM IN A TIN CUP, the third part of the Zander trilogy, steers us through the main mans pompous progress as he charts his way round a number of well known Scottish golf courses. With a ridiculous lack of common sense and only minimal success, he manfully tries to conquer his new pastime. All of it is done to achieve his prime aim, to win some of the tantalising rewards that the corporate side of the game might bring him. On one life changing occasion he meets up with his former, fun-loving but insensitive crew of sailors, Grunt, Murdo and Gilbert for another water-borne adventure. Many unlikely characters such as; a deaf detective, a devious minister, a pregnant newsreader, a ghost, an overgenerous executive and an illiterate railwayman represent a few the threads that run through this bright and breezy tapestry of Golf and Golfers. As this unrolls it exposes a world of Hells Angels, a singing phantom, a fleeing film crew, a silenced jazz band, hungry journalists, man eating animals, penny-pinching pawnbrokers, and stolen cars, as well as police, fire and ambulance services. Somehow all of these have been woven into a quirky but believable mixture of mayhem, murder and mystery. How is it possible that all this diversity can have any place in the Royal and Ancient game? What does he get up to? How can he do it? Where will it all end up? With unexpected and often incredible twists and turns, A STORM IN A TIN CUP provides the hilarious and sometimes thought provoking answers. Read the book and find out!! And please remember, as all golfers know to their cost, Theres many a slip twixt lip and cup!!!
