Dare you to consider how breast cancer or any other life challenge can be used as a catalyst for positive change. Reassure you that you are not alone in your journey through breast cancer with stories of women who understand the fear that comes with diagnosis as well as how they have celebrated life throughout the decades. Provide insight into how a positive attitude can transform your journey through any challenge in life. Challenge you to explore your faith in God, self, and others and how that relationship has been impacted after a cancer diagnosis. Encourage you to examine the way that you view statistics and to consider the possibility that you might be the exception when faced with overwhelming odds. Offer suggestions to cope with cancer from women who have survived twenty to fifty years after their own breast cancer diagnosis.
