

An Examination of the Chief Points of Antinomianism [Annotated]

Collected Out Of Some Lectures Lately Preached in the Church of Antholines Parish, London: And now drawn together into a Body, and published for the Benefit of all that love the holy Truth of God. I...set myself to oppose the present errors which darken the truth of God, and defile the purity of our holy profession. This error of Antinomianism I chose to deal in, because I conceived it one of the most dangerous doctrines that are broached in these days. Satan does never more harm, than when he is transformed into an angel of light (2 Corinthians 11:14). Nor is any error more dangerous, than that by which Christian liberty is used an occasion to the flesh, by which the care and conscience of the Law, the rule of holiness, is weakened and worn away; by which the soul and conscience is steeled and stiffened against the sense and remorse of sin and sinfulness. In this I have done what I could; if not with strength enough to convince, or clearness enough to persuade, yet with a sincere heart, and a desire to do good. Originally published in 1647; 75 pages with exhaustive Scripture index included.
