

Most of us have never been told we are awesome. We have been told our accomplishments were awesome. We have been told the outfit we were wearing looked awesome, but not that we, without effort or intention, are awesome alone. It is the awareness of this awesomeness that determines our height in life and our depth in thought. This book serves as a life compass. It is a road map compiled of stories, lessons, and experiences that will guide you through your personal journey. How do you turn tragedy into triumph? Draw strength when you feel emotionally empty? More importantly, how will you learn to love your reflection in the mirror, so that you can celebrate and embrace your own and unique awesomeness? Whether you are graduating from high school, recently divorced or seeking self-affirmation you will find Awesome You! to be an amazing message of hope and empowerment.
