

Creative Thinking: Relationship Advice is a book that focuses on innovative ways to foster positive relationships with persons. It is not a text that focuses on the intimate relationship but has a more general take on things and focuses on working with a team. This audiobook highlights how a negative attitude can lead to others having a negative attitude as well. In the long run it takes an adjustment of the thought process and a more positive outlook on life coupled with positivity to make any relationship work for the long term. It is all about finding solutions to challenges on the go. In a nutshell the listener learns that a positive attitude is encouragement to others and a negative is not.
