

Who are you? How do you see yourself? More importantly, why do you see yourself as you do? Each of our lives are shaped by the way we see ourselves, not by the way others see us. Our goals, ambitions and successes in life are-in reality-controlled only by us, not by other people or circumstances. We all have the potential to be successful in every aspect of our lives. Happy at work and at home. Financially secure, emotionally balanced, and at peace within ourselves. The frustrations and limitations that permeated our thoughts are self-imposed and can be eliminated. Ceilings may be the most important book you ever read, in that it will release your inner greatness for the world to see. Stop limiting yourself and get out of your own way. Find the ceiling in each aspect of your life, eliminate it, and be the person you have always wanted to be. That person has always existed within you, chained by doubt, fear, anger and other unfounded and debilitating beliefs. This is your life; there are no dress rehearsals. Choose happiness and success.
