

Biblical Excellence for students

Excellence is often thought of in light of academics or athletics. An excellent student often has certificates, degrees, awards, even a good paying job to prove their level of academic excellence. Likewise, an excellent athlete has awards, medals, trophies, even a position on a professional sports team that shows how excellent an athlete they are. The worlds judgment of excellence is based on recognition and reputation. If someone is known worldwide, that person has a reputation for being an excellent individual. However, Christians are not judged by the worlds standards of excellence. It cannot be measured by financial success. It is not awarded based on good conduct. Excellence is something that is born in the heart of a believer. It must be caught by the believer as an inner personal conviction rather than taught to them as an outward behavior. And most importantly, Christians who exhibit excellence do not seek the praise of men but the glory of God. Excellence is more than doing a good job. It involves more than performing the bare minimum. Perhaps the best way to define excellence is to describe what it is not. Excellence does not imply mediocrity or complacency. It is not doing something of poor quality or throwing together a patchy project. The opposite of excellence is inconsistency and unreliability, leading to untrustworthiness. On the other hand, a person with a spirit of excellence can be trusted to do quality work every time without question, no matter the task. Excellence goes hand in hand with integrity. The character of an individual can be judged by what they do when no one is watching. The one who still strives to do things with excellence even when no one else notices is a person with integrity. That is a person who can be trusted. People who exhibit excellence are like a man who spends endless hours day after day for many months carving a 30-foot marble statue that will be placed in the middle of the town square. After nearly a year, his work is almost complete. But one day, while putting the final touches on the face of the statue, the chisel slips creating a small scratch on the statues nose. Without hesitation, the artisan stops his work and begins carving a new statue from a fresh block of marble. When asked why he started over when people wouldnt notice such a tiny flaw from so high up, he simply states, I will know. This same kind of excellence can be implemented into every facet of a Christians life. While most people within the church will not be carving a marble statue, they certainly will be involved in some area of Christian service.
