Excerpt from Directors Report of the Oregon State Bureau of Mines: To the Twenty-Seventh Regular Assembly, Oregon Legislature, for the Biennium 1911-1912 At the Twenty-Sixth (1911) Regular Session of the Oregon Legislature, House Bill No. 207 was passed creating the State Bureau of Mines, a copy of which law was found appended to this report. The Director believes that the action of the Legislature at the beginning was a wise one. When large appropriations are made at once for work of a new character much money is often wasted in the haste to be doing before the proper field of endeavor has been carefully and thoughtfully limited. Although the purpose and field of the State Bureau of Mines was quite well defined in the minds of those in charge of the Bureau, yet the experience of the past two years has taught them many things; we can now say with confidence that the Legislature used excellent judgment in keeping the appropriation for the first biennium to a small sum to insure a proper organization, a careful study of the field and scope the Bureau should occupy, and a true conception of the right way to have this information reach all those who might use it to advantage in the upbuilding of our State. Because of this the money spent in the field was largely for the purpose of getting acquainted with our economic needs and carrying out what we conceived to be the intent of the Legislature. This the Director feels has now been accomplished within the given time. We found that the objects and duties of the Bureau as defined by the present law were all important divisions of the work, but upon careful investigation of the needs of the State from an economic standpoint, it would seem advisable that the Bureau hasten its work along certain special lines. Need For Clay Investigation. Among the important geological products of the State which should be rapidly developed, the ceramic industry is one which in our opinion should receive State attention.
