

In Pursuit Of Life After Death: Everyone Has A Story...What Is Yours?

This book takes the reader into the realm of death and post death events from the perspectives of a bereaved son and doctor who is in the unique position of observing death more intimately and frequently than most. The authors insights are fascinating as he is able to relate to both the Taoist and Christian religious beliefs. Most post-war cultural experiences in South East Asia and South China were written by female authors. This book, however, is written from a male perceptive and has delved into the inter-play of culture, religion and science. Without offering any entrenched opinions, the author has succeeded in stimulating and challenging our beliefs, both religious or otherwise. Intriguing, thought provoking, well written, this book challenges you to reflect on issues of life after death, the spiritual and the supernatural. The author takes us on an interesting journey of intellectual debate and discussion and vivid personal experiences and ponders on the certainty that awaits us all, death and whether we still live after dying.
