

In the year 2006, Jeffrey Birch decided to move back to the family home that his Father had built in 1965. A new house on virgin soil; built at the end of the road on a corner plot with a lane to the side of the house. This lane would have been the old London Road way back in history, and to the side of the lane all open fields. This home has been more recently described by a top medium as the most haunted residential property that I have ever been in . I want the world to know that there are spirits out there and fortunately, or unfortunately, depending on your point of view, we have been shown proof way beyond all doubt. Therefore I just had to put pen to paper and write this book. The book is written as it is with nothing fictitious added; it is more like a diary of events. I think the book will appeal to everyone who has a general interest in the paranormal or who are psychic or spiritual, and even those who are total sceptics and don t believe in ghosts will enjoy the challenge presented.
