

Testing Christianity's Truth Claims: Approaches to Christian Apologetics

Gordon Lewis presents the Christian position in a thought provoking and clear manner. In this fine treatment of truth claims for Christianity, he marshalls a defense of Christianity that includes a presentation of the outstanding apologetic systems of the past. Major apologetic systems evaluated are the pure empiricism of J. Oliver Buswell, Jr., the rational empiricism of Stuart C. Hackett, the rationalism of Gordon H. Clark, the biblical authoritarianism of Cornelius Van Til, the mysticism of Earl E. Barrett, and the verificational approach of Edward John Camel. Other contemporary apologists whose positions are treated include Francis Schaeffer, C. S. Lewis, Clark Pinnock, Norman Geisler, Bernard Ramm, and John W. Montgomery. Though scholarly for textbook purposes, the treatment is always eminently readable. A fine glossary of philosophical terms at the end of the book affords easy access to this material for the uninitiated student or lay Christian.
