Excerpt from Message From the President of the United States: Transmitting Communications From the Plenipotentiaries of the United States Charged With Negotiating Peace With Great Britain, Showing the Conditions on Which Alone That Government Is Willing to Put an End to the War, October 10, 1814

Sir, We have the honor to inform you that the British commissioners, lord Gambier, Henry Goulburn, esq. and William Adams, esq. arrived in this city on Saturday evening the 6th instant. The day after their arrival, Mr Baker, their secretary, called upon us to give us notice of the fact, and to propose a meeting at a certain hour on the ensuing day. The place having been agreed upon, we accordingly met at one o'clock, on Monday the 8th instant. We enclose, herewith, a copy of the full powers exhibited by the British commissioners, at that conference, which was opened, on their part by an expression of the sincere and earnest desire of their government, that the negotiation might result in a solid peace, honorable to both parties. They at the same time declared, that no events which had occurred since the first proposal for this negotiation, had altered the pacific disposition of their government, or varied its views as to the terms upon which it was willing to conclude the peace.
