

Scripture Versus Science : Reconciling Gods Ancient Wisdom with a Modern World View

Synopsis: Is the Earth thousands of years old or millions? Using a scientist's analytical approach, Dr. Robert D. Harter evaluated and compared the biblical, anthropological, and geological records to find out. His eye-opening book Scripture Versus Science: Reconciling Gods Ancient Wisdom with a Modern World View approaches the subject of Earth's origins and human development from the position of a lifelong Christian who is also a scientist. The author grew up in a rural Ohio Christian family and understands those who believe the Earth and everything in it was created a few thousand years ago. He is also a university professor who understands why the planet is claimed to be millions of years old. Both positions cannot be correct, though he believes that neither is completely wrong. While unlikely to provide a clear and definitive answer to the question of evolutionary science, the book does begin to clear the fog that has developed around the controversy.
