

Ten Weeks to Love: How I Went from Divorced and Miserable to Happily Married Without Losing Weight, Having Plastic Surgery or Being Completely Sane!

When I was growing up, we didn't have a class in school called Love 101. If we had, this book would have been required reading! JACK CANFIELD, NY Times Bestselling Author, Co-author, Chicken Soup for the Soul series of books. Part memoir, part workbook, Carr shares her story and 10-week transformation from relationship failure to meeting and marrying her soulmate, 16-years her junior. Four weeks after meeting, Carr (then 45) married Charles (29). After 26 years of a great marriage--and at the urging of friends--she wrote her highly-praised book, Ten Weeks to Love, first released in 2013. This new edition (2) has more chapters and photos, plus exercises at the end of each chapter for readers to put into practice what it took her months to work out. If you have failed at love once or many times, are tired of being single despite professional success, or have emotional baggage that keeps you from finding your special person....this book is for you! Even if you're just starting out on the road to love, consider this small volume your Love 101 primer, and let Carr help you avoid the pitfalls and improve your chances of happiness without all the drama of failure and divorce. Truly, a book that inspires hope! What you've done is unique, much needed and will help readers find the lasting and loving happiness they are seeking. CARRIE KISH, CPCC Life Coach.
