

Speaking Up

This inspiring short story was the overall winning piece of writing in Cosgrove Cares annual story competition. Jack's admiration and love for his Granda will speak to anyone who has felt the same strong bond with another person. His descriptions impart wisdom, strength and an overall sense of happiness in spite of loss. Extract:
My Granda was fascinating to listen to and he knew something about everything. He always knew the answer and was able to fix anything. He was a much loved man and was very kind and generous. He enjoyed telling funny stories which are shared around the family and I love and cherish them. I like to hear new, exciting stories from when he was young. I will treasure my memories of my Granda forever and speaking about him makes me happy.
