

Thoughts on the Cherubimical Mystery; Or an Attempt to Prove, That the Cherubims, Were Emblems of Salvation: By the Blood of Jesus (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Thoughts on the Cherubimical Mystery; Or an Attempt to Prove, That the Cherubims, Were Emblems of Salvation: By the Blood of Jesus

The first mention made of cherubims, in the sacred writings, is in Gen. iii. 24. when, upon Adams being divested of dominion, and driven out of the garden of Eden, for breach of covenant, the Cherubims were placed at the end of the garden, to prevent his return thither. The next mention we have of cherubims, is in Exodus xxv. 18. where God commanded Moses to make two cherubims of beaten gold, in the ends of the mercy-seat; and so to adjust them, that, covering the mercy-seat with their wings, and having their faces turned the one to the other, they might both be looking towards the mercy-seat.
