

The list of complaints we carry against our parents can go on and on. I had a list for years. It seemed to keep growing. Tapping helped me dissolve my list. My parents did not Love me in the ways I wanted their Love. Your parents did not Love you in the ways you wanted their Love. We felt it was our fault—somehow, we were flawed and could not be Loved. Every child wants to feel Loved. We look to our parents for Love, guidance, reassurance and security. When our parents are abusive—we live in fear and great sadness. We wander through our lives looking for the magic that will make us Lovable. When our parents are not loving in the ways we feel we need Love—we continue to look outside of ourselves to find Love. We are created from the substance of God—Unconditional Love. Every cell in our body (80-120 trillion cells) is created from Love with Love. Yet, we walk around in our World looking for Love. We can't seem to find Love. We know we are unlovable. We just don't seem to know why. We begin looking for Love through our accomplishments, our achievements, our education, our work, our stuff, our home and our money. If we are good enough—someone will notice and we will be Loved. Humanity settles for is such a shallow form of Love. Love is all encompassing. Love is not something that we can buy. Love is who we are. No one can give us Love. We are already created from the substance of Love. Yet, we are programmed to believe that we have to earn Love.
