

Trainer to Trillionaire: From Building Memories to Building a Legacy

It is time to stop setting your alarm clock and waking up way too early, just to build someone else's dream. When did you get to this point? Living in a spiral of waking up, going to work, missing your children, go to sleep, repeat...? Jason lost over 200 pounds. He then told his story for the first time, which served as momentum on a path to speaking. This journey of self-realization led to his discovery using the very laws which bind our universe, and he consequently began changing the lives of everyone around him. After gaining some knowledge of the wealthiest 1%, Jason learned building multiple streams of passive is the only way to make it out of the employment/self-employment trap. His journey became even more exciting as a movement of prosperity began to grow nationwide. This led to Jason making many new friends along the way, and gave opportunity to learn from many leaders and mentors. Now, he not only helps people to find their true self, by sharing his own experiences, he also shows them a path to building their own success through taking a different approach to business and life. Success, belief, and happiness must go hand in hand to achieve the greatest version of your self. Warning: you may read a particular chapter or sentence; or possibly the entirety of this book, over and over again, just to catch something new, so you may want to have a highlighter, pen, and notepad handy. I find it a little silly that we will watch a movie 30 times, which will fill our minds with negativity. Then, we will read a book, that will completely change our lives, once. I know - I did it for most of my life. And you know what? As soon as I stopped doing it, I set myself up to become a millionaire before my very next birthday. Any entrepreneur can recreate what I have done. Many people want to be happy, prosperous, rich, famous, wealthy... but, no one wants to put in the work or break out of their routine. In order to make that first million, you must take drastic action to change your mind. You must show the universe you deserve it by getting out of your own way. You have to be willing to show the world that you actually can change your inner self. - Jason Criddle
