

Unlocking Alien Closets: Abductions, Mind Control, and Spirituality

What is it like to: have episodes of missing time (you don't know where you were or what happened); awaken in the morning with strange marks on your body and not know who put them there humans or aliens; feel as if you are a test subject in a secret mind-control experiment; have dreams that are so real you feel as if you are living in a dual reality; be harassed by black helicopters and threatened at gunpoint by military personnel; question your own sanity, religion, and what you were taught in church and school; lose your family, home, and job because you had the courage to speak out about your out-of-the ordinary experiences? Leah A. Haley knows firsthand what it is like. In Unlocking Alien Closets, she takes the reader into the life and mind of an alien abductee. She shares her struggle to cope with her unusual experiences and relates her attempts to understand how aliens, UFOs, mind control, and the government coverup are related to God, the Bible, and spirituality. The book's 20-page photo section includes physical evidence such as photographs of an electromagnetic pulse beam weapon, a stun projectile, an unexplained metal object that came out of the author's gum, black helicopters that harassed the author, and mysterious marks on her body; as well as sketches of aliens. The book also includes a bibliography and an extensive index.
